Community Foundation Dedicates New Facility

Washington, PA – The Washington County Community Foundation recently dedicated its new office location at 331 South Main Street in Washington. Commonly referred to as the Chapman Annex, historians will know the house as the James G. Blaine House, as the former Speaker of the House, Secretary of State, and Governor of Maine, lived in the house when he attended Washington College (now W&J College) in the 1840's. Outside signage featuring the community foundation logo was provided by Campbell Insurance Associates.
