

Dorothy F. Tecklenburg

Dorothy F. Tecklenburg is a corporate communications consultant.

Dorothy spent 5 years in China serving as an ALCOA Foundation representative, oversaw renovation of a Chinese orphanage, and for six years wrote a column, “Dispatch from China” for the Observer Reporter (03-08).

Dorothy was a television producer/director/writer, in commercial television, and her credits include Field Producer for Evening Magazine, Producer/Director for QUBE, and writer for American Movie Classics.

Dorothy has served as a Corporate Communications Consultant/ Video Producer for clients including PPG Industries, ALCOA, Universal Studios Florida, and American Express, and has also served as a creative consultant and writer for KidSoft, children’s computer magazine, and Compuserve WOW!, children’s on-line service. She was a co-creator and creative consultant for the PBS television show “Where in the World is Carmen Sandiego?”.

Dorothy has authored several works, such as Bob Dorian’s Classic Movies, and co-authored The Complete Time Traveler, and received Emmy nominations for a Boston Celtics Pre-season Special, Evening Magazine, and “Where in the World is Carmen Sandiego?” and received a CINE Award for “Up in Smoke,” an educational video encouraging Washington County high school students not to smoke.

She was an Adjunct Professor for Waynesburg College from 1987-2003, a corporate communications consultant, and has served as a Trustee for the International School of Beijing, and as a Board Member for the Children’s School of Washington.

Dorothy and her husband, John, live in Amity.

